Selected studies and reports examining changes in insurance coverage patterns following the expansions of coverage under SCHIP (Note 10).

Selected studies examining the impacts of SCHIP on uninsurance and on health insurance decisions by employers (Note 14).

Selected state-specific studies on prior insurance coverage of children enrolled in SCHIP and access to employer-sponsored coverage in the family (Note 15).

Selected references on studies that have examined access and health care experiences under SCHIP (Note 18).

Selected references to literature that explores the impacts of different policy choices on enrollment and retention (Note 43).

G. Flores et al., “A Randomized, Control Trial of the Effectiveness of Community-Based Case Management in Insuring Uninsured Latino Children,” Pediatrics 116, no. 6 (2005): 1433-1441.

